WORK SAMPLE PORTFOLIO

Annotated work sample portfolios are provided to support implementation of the Foundation – Year 10 Australian Curriculum.

Each portfolio is an example of evidence of student learning in relation to the achievement standard. Three portfolios are available for each achievement standard, illustrating satisfactory, above satisfactory and below satisfactory student achievement. The set of portfolios assists teachers to make on-balance judgements about the quality of their students’ achievement.

Each portfolio comprises a collection of students’ work drawn from a range of assessment tasks. There is no pre-determined number of student work samples in a portfolio, nor are they sequenced in any particular order. Each work sample in the portfolio may vary in terms of how much student time was involved in undertaking the task or the degree of support provided by the teacher. The portfolios comprise authentic samples of student work and may contain errors such as spelling mistakes and other inaccuracies. Opinions expressed in student work are those of the student.

The portfolios have been selected, annotated and reviewed by classroom teachers and other curriculum experts. The portfolios will be reviewed over time.

ACARA acknowledges the contribution of Australian teachers in the development of these work sample portfolios.

THIS PORTFOLIO: YEAR 3 ENGLISH

This portfolio provides the following student work samples:

Sample 1  Response to visual text: Into the Forest
Sample 2  Information text: Vegetables
Sample 3  Reading aloud: Leading the Way
Sample 4  Oral presentation: Advertisement
Sample 5  Interpreting text: Stolen Girl
Sample 6  Group discussion: Building a skate park
Sample 7  Presentation: Television cooking show

This portfolio of student work includes responses to a variety of texts and the development of a range of written and oral texts. The student reads aloud, utilising reading strategies to enhance comprehension (WS3). The student creates informative and persuasive texts (WS2, WS4, WS5, WS6, WS7). The student selects information from informative, visual and literary texts (WS1, WS2, WS5). The student creates cohesive texts to engage, persuade and inform (WS1, WS2, WS4, WS5, WS7). The student plans and delivers a sequenced presentation (WS7) and participates in a group discussion (WS6).
Response to visual text: Into the Forest

Year 3 English achievement standard

The parts of the achievement standard targeted in the assessment task are highlighted.

Receptive modes (listening, reading and viewing)

By the end of Year 3, students understand how content can be organised using different text structures depending on the purpose of the text. They understand how language features, images and vocabulary choices are used for different effects.

They read texts that contain varied sentence structures, a range of punctuation conventions, and images that provide additional information. They identify literal and implied meaning connecting ideas in different parts of a text. They select information, ideas and events in texts that relate to their own lives and to other texts. They listen to others’ views and respond appropriately.

Productive modes (speaking, writing and creating)

Students understand how language features are used to link and sequence ideas. They understand how language can be used to express feelings and opinions on topics. Their texts include writing and images to express and develop in some detail experiences, events, information, ideas and characters.

Students create a range of texts for familiar and unfamiliar audiences. They contribute actively to class and group discussions, asking questions, providing useful feedback and making presentations. They demonstrate understanding of grammar and choose vocabulary and punctuation appropriate to the purpose and context of their writing. They use knowledge of sounds and high frequency words to spell words accurately, checking their work for meaning. They write using joined letters that are accurately formed and consistent in size.

Summary of task

The students explored the illustrations in the book Into the Forest by Anthony Browne. They were to look at an image and compose open questions about it. Their questions could be directed to the characters in the book or to the author.
Response to visual text: Into the Forest

Annotations

- Formulates different kinds of questions including ‘why’ questions.
- Makes inferences based on information in illustration.
- Constructs a set of questions to respond to a visual text.
- Responds to literal information in an illustration.
Information text: Vegetables

Year 3 English achievement standard

The parts of the achievement standard targeted in the assessment task are highlighted.

Receptive modes (listening, reading and viewing)

By the end of Year 3, students understand how content can be organised using different text structures depending on the purpose of the text. They understand how language features, images and vocabulary choices are used for different effects.

They read texts that contain varied sentence structures, a range of punctuation conventions, and images that provide additional information. They identify literal and implied meaning connecting ideas in different parts of a text. They select information, ideas and events in texts that relate to their own lives and to other texts. They listen to others’ views and respond appropriately.

Productive modes (speaking, writing and creating)

Students understand how language features are used to link and sequence ideas. They understand how language can be used to express feelings and opinions on topics. Their texts include writing and images to express and develop in some detail experiences, events, information, ideas and characters.

Students create a range of texts for familiar and unfamiliar audiences. They contribute actively to class and group discussions, asking questions, providing useful feedback and making presentations. They demonstrate understanding of grammar and choose vocabulary and punctuation appropriate to the purpose and context of their writing. They use knowledge of sounds and high frequency words to spell words accurately, checking their work for meaning. They write using joined letters that are accurately formed and consistent in size.

Summary of task

The class studied different types of vegetables as part of making a vegetable garden. The text structure of an information report was modelled and discussed and text features, particularly paragraphing, technical nouns and complex sentences were modelled.

Students were asked to write an information report about a vegetable of their choice for inclusion in a class book. They were asked to include:

- characteristics of the vegetable
- how the vegetable is grown
- how the vegetable is best eaten
- a labelled picture or diagram showing the parts of the vegetable
- a list of the text structures and language features used in their report
- comments about the effectiveness of structures and language features they used.
Information text: Vegetables

Report of a chosen vegetable

1. Which text structures and language features did you include in your information report?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Text structures</th>
<th>Language features</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Title, heading, paragraphs, key information</td>
<td>punctuation, diagram, illustration, symbol tables, sentence structures, salient things</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

2. Which is the most effective to help your readers read the text? Headings

Why? Because headings help people know what the paragraphs are about.

3. Choose one student’s work which shows effective use of a text structure or language feature. Write whose you have chosen and why you chose it:

Neve because her photos are salient.

Annotations

Demonstrates understanding of the difference between text structure and features and comments on the purpose of some structural elements.
Information text: Vegetables

4. What was the least effective text structure or language feature you have used to help your readers read your text? Title:

5. What would you do differently to make the structure or feature more effective?

I’ve learnt that language features are the features of the text and text structures are the organisation of the text.

I’ve learnt that the words writing and pronunciation.

Annotations

Uses knowledge of sound-letter correspondence and high-frequency words to achieve accurate spelling of most words, for example, ‘because’ and attempts unknown words, for example, ‘pronunciation’.
Information text: Vegetables

Annotations

Creates a well-structured informative text for a familiar audience.

Uses relating verbs (has) and doing verbs (eat) and maintains correct verb tense throughout.

Incorporates well-chosen topic vocabulary including some technical words, for example, ‘florets’, ‘cooler climate’.

Uses descriptive noun groups, for example, ‘green outer leaves’.

Uses simple and complex sentence structures to present information clearly.

Organises a text into paragraphs with effective subheadings.

Presents a simple, labelled illustration to add information to the text.

Uses facts rather than opinion to report information.
Reading aloud:  Leading the Way

Year 3 English achievement standard

The parts of the achievement standard targeted in the assessment task are highlighted.

Receptive modes (listening, reading and viewing)

By the end of Year 3, students understand how content can be organised using different text structures depending on the purpose of the text. They understand how language features, images and vocabulary choices are used for different effects.

They read texts that contain varied sentence structures, a range of punctuation conventions, and images that provide additional information. They identify literal and implied meaning connecting ideas in different parts of a text. They select information, ideas and events in texts that relate to their own lives and to other texts. They listen to others’ views and respond appropriately.

Productive modes (speaking, writing and creating)

Students understand how language features are used to link and sequence ideas. They understand how language can be used to express feelings and opinions on topics. Their texts include writing and images to express and develop in some detail experiences, events, information, ideas and characters.

Students create a range of texts for familiar and unfamiliar audiences. They contribute actively to class and group discussions, asking questions, providing useful feedback and making presentations. They demonstrate understanding of grammar and choose vocabulary and punctuation appropriate to the purpose and context of their writing. They use knowledge of sounds and high frequency words to spell words accurately, checking their work for meaning. They write using joined letters that are accurately formed and consistent in size.

Summary of task

Students were asked to read a known text aloud and to answer questions about how the information in the text related to their prior knowledge.
Reading aloud: Leading the Way

Annotations

Acknowledgement

Copyright
Student work samples are not licensed under the creative commons license used for other material on the Australian Curriculum website. Instead, a more restrictive licence applies. For more information, please see the first page of this set of work samples and the copyright notice on the Australian Curriculum website [http://www.australiancurriculum.edu.au/Home/copyright].
Oral presentation: Advertisement

Year 3 English achievement standard

The parts of the achievement standard targeted in the assessment task are highlighted.

Receptive modes (listening, reading and viewing)

By the end of Year 3, students understand how content can be organised using different text structures depending on the purpose of the text. They understand how language features, images and vocabulary choices are used for different effects.

They read texts that contain varied sentence structures, a range of punctuation conventions, and images that provide additional information. They identify literal and implied meaning connecting ideas in different parts of a text. They select information, ideas and events in texts that relate to their own lives and to other texts. They listen to others’ views and respond appropriately.

Productive modes (speaking, writing and creating)

Students understand how language features are used to link and sequence ideas. They understand how language can be used to express feelings and opinions on topics. Their texts include writing and images to express and develop in some detail experiences, events, information, ideas and characters.

Students create a range of texts for familiar and unfamiliar audiences. They contribute actively to class and group discussions, asking questions, providing useful feedback and making presentations. They demonstrate understanding of grammar and choose vocabulary and punctuation appropriate to the purpose and context of their writing. They use knowledge of sounds and high frequency words to spell words accurately, checking their work for meaning. They write using joined letters that are accurately formed and consistent in size.

Summary of task

As part of a unit on healthy eating, students explored the ingredients of healthy breakfast cereals. They discussed features of texts used to promote products, such as television advertisements, and explored persuasive language.

Students were asked to plan and present a 30-second television advertisement for a healthy breakfast cereal. They were encouraged to:

- wear a costume when performing
- bring props to use
- make up a jingle in the advertisement.
Students were requested to:

- speak clearly in a loud voice
- use a fun, interesting and enthusiastic tone in their voice
- face the camera and use appropriate facial expressions and gestures
- use convincing language to persuade the audience.

The television advertisement needed to:

- provide all the information in 30 seconds
- convince the audience that their cereal is better than any others
- be interesting to listen to and watch.
English

Oral presentation: Advertisement

Annotations
Interpreting text: Stolen Girl

Year 3 English achievement standard

The parts of the achievement standard targeted in the assessment task are highlighted.

Receptive modes (listening, reading and viewing)

By the end of Year 3, students understand how content can be organised using different text structures depending on the purpose of the text. They understand how language features, images and vocabulary choices are used for different effects.

They read texts that contain varied sentence structures, a range of punctuation conventions, and images that provide additional information. They identify literal and implied meaning connecting ideas in different parts of a text. They select information, ideas and events in texts that relate to their own lives and to other texts. They listen to others’ views and respond appropriately.

Productive modes (speaking, writing and creating)

Students understand how language features are used to link and sequence ideas. They understand how language can be used to express feelings and opinions on topics. Their texts include writing and images to express and develop in some detail experiences, events, information, ideas and characters.

Students create a range of texts for familiar and unfamiliar audiences. They contribute actively to class and group discussions, asking questions, providing useful feedback and making presentations. They demonstrate understanding of grammar and choose vocabulary and punctuation appropriate to the purpose and context of their writing. They use knowledge of sounds and high frequency words to spell words accurately, checking their work for meaning. They write using joined letters that are accurately formed and consistent in size.

Summary of task

The text Stolen Girl by Trina Saffioti was read to the class. The students compared the images and accompanying text used. The students in small groups discussed how the illustrator used different visual elements to create meaning. The students were asked to:

- select a part of the text that connected to their life (or another text) and create their own illustrations
- respond to a series of questions explaining language choices and illustrations used in the text.
Interpreting text: Stolen Girl

Imagine you have been given the story "Stolen Girl" to illustrate. Choose a part of the text which connects to your life or another text you know and create your own illustration.

Why did you choose that medium?
I just like what it looks like.

The part of the story I chose to illustrate was her corrugated iron house.

This part of the story reminds me of my dead friend's land and the little house on the prairie books.

Annotations

Uses noun groups/phrases and prepositional phrases to enrich meaning in sentences, for example, 'her corrugated iron house', 'in the car'.
Interpreting text: Stolen Girl

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Before</th>
<th>After</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>How does the illustrator represent the girl’s life before she was taken away? Think about the techniques, colours, symbols and other art elements. Characteristics are orange, red, yellow, and green for the family. Note one point on the family. Before the girl was taken away, she was happy and healthy. But most of the family picture appears inside and unhappy.</td>
<td>How does the illustrator represent the girl’s life after she was taken away? Think about the techniques, colours, symbols and other art elements. Characteristics are orange, red, yellow, and green for the family. Note one point on the family. After the girl was taken away, she was happy and healthy. But most of the family picture appears inside and unhappy.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What do these illustrations make you think? They make me think about how happy she was with her family and friends. It also made me think of what her Aboriginal and Australian name was.</td>
<td>What do these illustrations make you think? They make me think about the reason why they took the child.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Why? Because they were always outside and telling stories around the campfire.</td>
<td>Why? Because the reason is they are not still blood and do not have dark skin.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Words and phrases the author used to describe the girl’s life before she was taken away.
- She used to live with her mother in a corner house with a large yard that seemed to descend into a well. On each morning, they would sit eating sweet milk tea, “dinner” was split between soup and porridge. The fire listened to the elders tell stories of the old days.

Words and phrases the author used to describe the girl’s life after she was taken away.
- The girl sat solemnly, hoping that she would not be taken away. She was there.
- The girls’ hands became red raw from the harsh soap and sometimes they bled.

Annotations

- Uses a range of specific vocabulary to describe text and images.
- Makes detailed comments on visual elements in an image.
- Explains images in a text in terms of the techniques used and the feelings evoked in the viewer.
- Uses language of opinion to communicate views, for example, ‘I like’, ‘...made me think’.
- Uses correct sentence boundary punctuation.
- Identifies language choices made by an author in creating a detailed description.
Group discussion: Building a skate park

Year 3 English achievement standard

The parts of the achievement standard targeted in the assessment task are highlighted.

Receptive modes (listening, reading and viewing)
By the end of Year 3, students understand how content can be organised using different text structures depending on the purpose of the text. They understand how language features, images and vocabulary choices are used for different effects.

They read texts that contain varied sentence structures, a range of punctuation conventions, and images that provide additional information. They identify literal and implied meaning connecting ideas in different parts of a text. They select information, ideas and events in texts that relate to their own lives and to other texts. They listen to others’ views and respond appropriately.

Productive modes (speaking, writing and creating)
Students understand how language features are used to link and sequence ideas. They understand how language can be used to express feelings and opinions on topics. Their texts include writing and images to express and develop in some detail experiences, events, information, ideas and characters.

Students create a range of texts for familiar and unfamiliar audiences. They contribute actively to class and group discussions, asking questions, providing useful feedback and making presentations. They demonstrate understanding of grammar and choose vocabulary and punctuation appropriate to the purpose and context of their writing. They use knowledge of sounds and high frequency words to spell words accurately, checking their work for meaning. They write using joined letters that are accurately formed and consistent in size.

Summary of task

Students were asked to form a group to discuss the formation of a skateboard facility, including the rules that should apply.
Group discussion: Building a skate park
Presentation: Television cooking show

Year 3 English achievement standard

The parts of the achievement standard targeted in the assessment task are highlighted.

Receptive modes (listening, reading and viewing)

By the end of Year 3, students understand how content can be organised using different text structures depending on the purpose of the text. They understand how language features, images and vocabulary choices are used for different effects.

They read texts that contain varied sentence structures, a range of punctuation conventions, and images that provide additional information. They identify literal and implied meaning connecting ideas in different parts of a text. They select information, ideas and events in texts that relate to their own lives and to other texts. They listen to others' views and respond appropriately.

Productive modes (speaking, writing and creating)

Students understand how language features are used to link and sequence ideas. They understand how language can be used to express feelings and opinions on topics. Their texts include writing and images to express and develop in some detail experiences, events, information, ideas and characters.

Students create a range of texts for familiar and unfamiliar audiences. They contribute actively to class and group discussions, asking questions, providing useful feedback and making presentations. They demonstrate understanding of grammar and choose vocabulary and punctuation appropriate to the purpose and context of their writing. They use knowledge of sounds and high frequency words to spell words accurately, checking their work for meaning. They write using joined letters that are accurately formed and consistent in size.

Summary of task

In class, students were introduced to the structures and language features that are used in procedural texts. The students wrote a recipe which was later adapted and presented as a film script for a ‘television cooking show’. The students also created a PowerPoint to be used as the background for their TV presentation.

In groups, students negotiated a rubric for the film script and presentation. After the filming of the ‘television cooking show’, the students shared their shows with a peer who assessed it based on the negotiated rubric.

The class teacher supervised and guided students in the preparation of ingredients, including the use of the knife used to prepare food in the video clip.
Presentation: Television cooking show